

LIST OF FIGURES

Introduction	14
Figure 1.1. NSQF Levels-Degree-Credits	14
Figure 1.2. Responsibility Aspect of Skill Development	15
Research Methodology	64
Figure 3.1. India map showing Jaipur and Rajasthan	66
Figure 3.2. Map depicting the location of RISU & BSDU	71
Figure 3.3. Location of institutions in Google map	82
Figure 3.4. Indicative locations in Rajasthan map	82
Figure 3.5. Analysis of data	85
Results and Discussion
Figure 4.1. Distribution of respondents' age	96
Figure 4.2. Distribution of female and male students	97
Figure 4.3. Distribution of respondents based on their native place	100
Figure 4.4. Distribution of geographic location of the respondents	101
Figure 4.5. Awareness on industrial estate	102
Figure 4.6. Social categorisation of respondents	103
Figure 4.7. Education qualifications of respondents	104
Figure 4.8. Additional qualification of respondents	105
Figure 4.9. Involvement of respondents in co-curricular activities	106
Figure 4.10. Education details of respondent's parents	107
Figure 4.11. Income details of respondent's parents	108
Figure 4.12. Birth Order of respondents	109
Figure 4.13. Awareness on Entrepreneurship	110
Figure 4.14. Studies on Entrepreneurship	111
Figure 4.15. Additional new subject in skill curriculum	121
Figure 4.16. Opinion on job and business	145
Figure 4.17. Decision maker of future	149
Figure 4.18. Correlation between Demographic/ Personal dimension and Entrepreneurial Intention	154
Figure 4.19. Relationship between entrepreneurial inputs and management skills	158
Figure 4.20. Relationship between entrepreneurial inputs of skill education and SWOT Analysis	159
Figure 4.21. Flow chart for institutionalising entrepreneurship in skill education	163

LIST OF TABLES

Results and Discussion

Table 4.1.	Distribution of age of sample respondents	96
Table 4.2.	Distribution based on gender	97
Table 4.3.	Distribution of respondents based on their native place	99
Table 4.4.	Distribution of geographical location of respondents	101
Table 4.5.	Awareness about industrial estate	102
Table 4.6.	Social categorisation of respondents	103
Table 4.7.	Education qualifications of respondents	104
Table 4.8.	Additional qualification of respondents	105
Table 4.9.	Involvement of respondents in co-curricular activities	106
Table 4.10.	Education details of respondent's parents	107
Table 4.11.	Income details of respondent's parents	108
Table 4.12.	Birth Order of respondents	109
Table 4.13.	Awareness on Entrepreneurship	110
Table 4.14.	Entrepreneurship Studies	111
Table 4.15.	Relevance of the subjects	112
Table 4.16.	Entrepreneurial content in skill development course	114
Table 4.17.	Respondents opinion on Teaching Methodology	117
Table 4.18.	Relevance of other activities to skill course	118
Table 4.19.	Additional new subject in skill curriculum	120
Table 4.20.	Preference of close people for the future profession	122
Table 4.21.	Future professional success perceived by the respondents	123
Table 4.22.	Factors attributing to the success in entrepreneurship	125
Table 4.23.	Advantages of skill education program	128
Table 4.24.	Importance of job	129
Table 4.25.	Relative importance of job over business	130
Table 4.26.	Opinion on starting the business	132
Table 4.27.	Influence of skill education course on development of entrepreneurial characteristics	134
Table 4.28.	Factors of skill education course guiding students towards entrepreneurship	137
Table 4.29.	Preparedness to start a business	139
Table 4.30.	Factors motivating entrepreneurship	141

Table 4.31.	Comparison between job and business	143
Table 4.32.	Opinion on job and business	144
Table 4.33.	Perception of society about entrepreneurs	147
Table 4.34.	Decision maker of future	148
Table 4.35.	Professional goal of skill education students	150
Table 4.36.	Estimated time to start own enterprise	151
Table 4.37.	Correlation between demographic/ personal dimension and entrepreneurial intention	153
Table 4.38.	Correlation between entrepreneurial inputs in skill education and entrepreneurial characteristics of students	157